Letter of recommendation

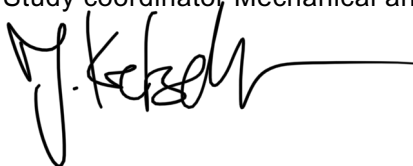

I supervised Mr. Caipo on behalf of the university during his Master's thesis in the winter semester 2025/2026. In his work, Mr. Caipo dealt with condition monitoring of hydraulic systems in an industrial context. He provided a detailed analysis of the current challenges and limitations of statistics-driven methods and developed a new methodology that makes it possible to separate mechanical degradation from transient operating influences. His scientific work is written at a very high level, with all steps presented in a clear, transparent, and comprehensible manner. He was able to convincingly show that the newly developed methodology represents the wear of hydraulic systems more accurately than existing indicators. At the same time, he identified the limitations of his own work, thereby demonstrating a reflective and critical approach to the problem at hand. Furthermore, Mr. Caipo had already submitted the results of his work for revision as a journal paper to the journal Discovery Mechanical Engineering during his thesis.

I have come to know Mr. Caipo as a polite and highly inquisitive individual who is able to quickly grasp very complex problems. He is capable of working at a very high scientific level, and I therefore strongly recommend him for a doctoral position at your institute.

Yours sincerely
